A new $20 million Australian Interactive Games Fund was announced today by Arts Minister Simon Crean. Mr Crean said the 3-year fund "will support the development of games in Australia, investing in the intellectual property of our creative businesses to give them a stronger position internationally".

The interactive entertainment industry is one of the fastest growing sectors in the world economy. The fund will commence in 2012-13, delivering $5 million per annum in the first and second years, and $10 million in 2014-15. Read the full media release on Minister Crean's website
